CHINESE FIRED ON TIEN-TSIN.

THEIR STRENGTH IS SURPRISING.

Russians the Severest Sufferers--Japan Will Increase Her Force in the Flowery Kingdom--More Missions Destroyed. The Rebellion is Spreading and Assuming Dangerous Proportions.

By Wire to the Telegram.

London, July 29—According to a a dispatch received by way of Cheefoo, the Chinese opened fire on Tien-Tsin last Friday. The native troops had at least twelve guns in action when they began the attack. They retired at 1 o'clock in the afternoon.

The shell fire of the Chinese on the European settlement was very accurate. It is also reported that the native city was also shelled with disastrous results.

The foreign forces were divided between Tien-Tsin and Taku. Their strength is estimated at 9,500. The dispatch adds that 250 women and children left Tong Ku Friday for Shanghai.

A RAY OF HOPE FROM PEKIN.

London, July 9—Vice-Admiral Bruce reports to the Admiralty from Taku, under date of the 7th, to the effect that that there are grounds for hoping that Prince Ching, with his army, is in Pekin protecting the legations against Prince Tuan's army and the Boxers.

STRENGTH OF CHINESE SURPRISING.

London, July 9—A dispatch to the Central News Agency from Tien-Tsin, dated July 2nd and delayed at Cheefoo, reports heavy fighting at Tien-Tsin. On July 1st the allied forces were vigorously attacked by the Chinese from three different directions, and for a time a detachment of Russians was in a desperate position.

The great strength of the Chinese surprised everybody. The Russians suffered severely, many being wounded.

A dispatch from Yokohama says the Japanese government has finally decided to increase the force in China to 23,000 men and 5,000 horses.

It is reported from Rome that the Japanese commander-in-chief will command the allied forces for the relief of Pekin.

It is reported from Paris that Major Marchand, of Fashoda fame, will serve with the French troops under General Dodds in China.

ALL WELL ON BOARD THE OREGON.

Washington, July 9—The Navy Department today made public a dispatch from China stating that the battleship Oregon would start for Kure about the 10th or 12th. She will stop en route if the weather is bad. All on board are well.

SOLDIERS FOR CHINA.

New York, July 9.—Col. Kimball, assistant adjutant-general, today received hurry orders by telephone from Washington to send every available transport to Cuba and Porto Rico and bring back the soldiers on those islands for service in the far east. The Chinese difficulty is said to be responsible for the order.

MORE MISSIONS DESTROYED.

London, July 9.—Several German Catholic and one American mission in Shangtung have been destroyed by the Boxers. Some of the missionaries escaped. This information is brought in an official dispatch to Berlin.

The news indicates that the rebellion is spreading and assuming a dangerous character in Shantung, whose governor professes to be loyal.

Narrow Escape From Death.

By Wire to the Telegram.

New York, July 9.—While 25 children were watching a parade of the Riverside Club, on Cherry street today, a fire escape parted from the building wall and fell, a basement railing breaking the fall. One child was seriously injured and others were slightly hurt. The escape from death was miraculous.

Labor Troubles in Rotterdam.

By Wire to the Telegram.

Rotterdam, July 9.—The strike of the dock laborers is becoming more serious. The local garrison has been reinforced by infantry and cavalry, while gunboats protect the river.

RESOURCES AND LIABILITIES.

A Few Things in Connection With the Dispensary That Have Been Overlooked by its Opponents.

The opponents of the dispensary are complaining because our financial statement shows that we have borrowed $1,700.00. They have doubtless forgotten that the dispensary started without a dollar of invested capital. They forget also that the dispensary board has handed over to the city of Greensboro $8,000.00 in cash, and to the county of Guilford $2,500.00 in cash during the past twelve months, and after doing this has a stock on hand of about $4,000.00 and only $1,700.00 borrowed for running capital This is all made clear in the following statement of resources and liabilities. The dispensary board has paid over to the city and county all the profits made during the last year except $337.28. On what ground can any tax payer object to this?

Statement showing resources and liabilities of Greensboro Dispensary July 2nd 1900:

DISAGREES WITH CY.

Concord Cotton Boll, a negro paper:

Every colored man in North Carolina should go and register immediately. Understand, it dosen't matter if you have registered an hundred times, before you can vote this year you must register again. And it behooves every colored man to go to the polls and help kill this amendment now before the people.

You colored men have the chance of your life. What are you going to do about it? Are you going to remain away from the registratoin books and let the amendment which means, they tell you plainly that it does, that you shall not cast your ballots longer for your choice, or will you like men register and vote it down? That is left wholly with you. You know all about the amendment; there is no use saying you do not. Mr. Cy. Thompson said in his speech here Wednesday that he wished every colored man would refrain from voting in order to show that there are more white people in the State who are against the measure than for it. We do not one time doubt Mr. Thompson's sincerity, and we are aware of the fact that the greater number of whites do not favor it, but let us not go into this habit of not voting. Then, colored voters, cast your ballot and make the majority even larger; let it go out that you yourself are interested in your own liberty. Let us kick off this creeping law which unless you work against it with the ballot, will rent you assunder.

Again we beseech the colored man to register. Only two more weeks in which to do it.

Carelessness in Handling Mail Matter.

Since the present campaign opened much complaint has been heard of the failure of postmasters to properly handle and deliver literature sent out by the Democratic party. Most of the complaint has come from the country offices, where incompetent persons are often in charge. A gentleman from Rockingham says that a great deal of the literature sent to voters in that county is never delivered, it being either thrown away or sent to the wrong postoffices.

Mr. A. M. Scales, chairman of the Democratic executive committee of this county, has had occasion to make complaint to the Postoffice Department

THE NEW BENBOW BUILDING.

WORK COMMENCED THIS MORNING.

The Structure Will be One of the Largest and Handsomest in the City—Will Occupy the Burnt Corner—It Will be Erected With a View to Using it Either as a Hotel or an Office Building.

The first work preparatory to the erection of the elegant new building on the corner of North Elm and West Sycamore streets, mention of which was made in the Telegram some days ago, was begun today, a force of hands being put to work cleaning up the burnt corner. The work will be pushed as rapidly as possible, and the building will be begun as soon as material can be secured.

The building will be erected by Mr. Charles D. Benbow, but on account of his business engagements at Pinehurst it will be done under the supervision of his father, Dr. D. W. C. Benbow. It will have a frontage of 65 feet on South Elm street and 150 on West Sycamore, and will be about four stories in height. The material and workmanship will be of the best. The fact that the Hotel Guilford was built under the same management 30 years ago, and is today one of the handsomest and most durable buildings in Greensboro, is a guarantee that the new Benbow building will be an ornament to the city.

The new structure will be erected with a view to utilizing it either as a hotel or office building, as may seem most desirable when it is completed. In either case it will be a great improvement to the city and will add much to the appearance of Greensboro's principal business street.

DEATH BY HYDROPHOBIA.

Fearful Fate of Two Boys Bitten by a Dog in Stanly County.

Stanly Enterprise.

On May 28th the two sons of Mr. R. H. Kirk, Ernest and Henry, were bitten by a dog. It was not thought at that time the dog was rabid, but the head was expressed to Baltimore for examination. Before the head could have reached its destination a telegram was received saying:

"Head received, send children at once for examination."

This confused Mr. Kirk. The physisians did not regard the bite as serious, and no one thought of the terrible fate of little Henry. Last Saturday Henry complained of a severe sore throat. From the first he refused water or nourishment of any kind. On Sunday the disease continued to develop but hope was not given up until Tuesday morning when spasms became frequent. On Wednesday morning, after an awful night, the end was seen to be near. The disease had made him frantic and the suffering had become intense. He died on July 4th between 3 and 4 o'clock.

Ernest, his brother, who was also bitten at the same time was taken to Baltimore to take the Pasteur treatment.

DAMAGE BY THE STORM.

A Man and a Boy Killed in Winston-Salem—Crops Injured.

The wind storm which visited this section yesterday afternoon was quite severe, being fallowed in some places by a heavy rain. The wind did considerable damage to growing crops, especially corn. No damage to property is reported in this immediate vicinity.

Around Winston-Salem trees and buildings were blown down. A part of the Sou hside Cotton Mills, owned by the Messrs. Fries, was blown away, the property being damaged to the extent of several thousand dollars. A man and a boy were struck by falling timbers and killed.

Boers Driven Back.

By Wire to the Telegram.

London, July 9.—Lord Roberts cables from Pretoria that General Mahon, with six guns, has driven back 3,000 Boers who were menacing his right flank. The Boer loss was heavy.

Mr. Wakefield's Statement.

To the Editor of the Telegram:

Lest some might have the impression that I am keeping a vicious bull and depending on my hired help to attend him and thereby endanger their lives or persons, I wish to make a statement of the facts in regard to the deplorable affair which happened last Friday morning.

The bull is turned loose for water and exercise while the milking is being done. Every man is repeatedly cautioned against going into the lot while he is loose. I attend to loosing and untying him myself and ask no man to risk himself. It was not any part of the duty of the unfortunate man to attend the bull, other than to feed him when he was securely tied in his stall. He went into the lot alone and attempted to drive him to his stall with a pitchfork, when it is supposed the bull became infuriated and turned upon him. As soon as I heard the disturbance I rushed to the stables and drove off the bull with a small stick. Shortly afterwards the bull was called to his stall and very peacefully allowed me to tie him up.

GEORGE WAKEFIELD.

Off to the Tournament.

The Greensboro delegates to the State Firemen's Association, which convenes in Wilmington tomorrow, left today. Only three companies of the department will be represented this year, the following being the delegates: John Lewis and Dave Sergeant, of the Steam Fire Engine Company No. 1; J. R. McClamroch and Harry Poezolt, of the Eagle Hose Company No. 7, and J. Henry Phipps and Flavius Keith, of the Southside Hose Company.

The running team of the Southside Hose Company and the Eagle Juniors will go down tomorrow for the tournament.

Greensboro a Meeting Point.

Greensboro has come to be an important meeting point for Republican politicians, especially on Sunday. Many of the speakers come in and spend the day at headquarters, drawing fresh inspiration and sympathizing with each other. Among those here yesterday were Judge Bowman, Senator Pritchard's father-in-law; Oscar J. Spears, a well known party leader from the eastern part of the State, and J. E. Alexander, of Winston, Chairman Holton's law partner.

A Democratic club is to be organized here. Such an orgaization is needed. The Democrats should be up and doing if they would have the township go for the amendment.

Are you going to the State Firemen's Tournament which meets in Wilmington this week?

The bridle had been removed from the horse, and as he started to run he was caught by Mr. C. H. Bumpass, who held on until the animal was stopped.

BUTLER'S SWELTERING CROWD.

BORED THEM FOR THREE HOURS.

Chairman Simmons Shows up the Caucasian's False Statement About White—Raleigh's Ice Question—Former Populist Nominee for Governor for the Amendment—Mr. Busbee Gets Ball on the Nose and Mouth—Society Getting out of Raleigh.

Special Correspondence of the Telegram.

Raleigh, July 8.—The ice question here has been an interesting one for three days. The old factory can make 26 tons a day. There was no reserve supply on hand and Raleigh is using even more than the 26 tons a day. A car load came from a new factory at Hamlet and this relieved the pressure. There is a new factory here, but its plant was only put in operation last week and its ice was only three inches thick Saturday. This new plant is mainly intended to supply ice for the Seaboard Air Line.

Senator Butler spoke three hours Saturday to a miserable and sweltering aggregation of Populists and their Republican allies in the Academy of Music. The temperature within the hall was 100 degrees, and in the sunshine was 132. The place was an inferno, yet there Butler stood and in his deliberate way talked and talked. A Republican hearer said, "Butler can stand anything. He is as cold-blooded as a snake." The Populists when they were not listening to their god, Butler, were in secret session; caucusing, as they termed it.

Chairman Simmons, speaking of the statements made in The Caucasian that Democrats were responsible for the election of the negro Congressman, White, stated this evening that the managers of the paper when they published this statement knew that it was not true. Mr. Simmons said that in the campaign of '98 the Democrats were so anxious to defeat White that after the Populists nominated Lloyd they did not put out a candidate, intending, if Lloyd would take a position in favor of white supremacy, to support him, so that the white vote of that district might not be divided; that some time before the election Lloyd was informed officially that if he would declare for white supremacy and denounce the fusion, which his party in Edgecombe and Halifax and some other counties in the district had made with Republicans by which they agreed to vote for negroes for the Legislature, the Democrats would put him on their ticket and vote for him and elect him in order to prevent the election of White. Lloyd was furthermore told if he would not do this, but would resign and let the committee of this party nominate Fountain, another Populist, who had declared for white supremacy and against fusion with negroes, the Democrats would put him on their ticket and elect him. Lloyd's answer was that he would have to consult Senator Butler. He went to see Butler and instead of coming out for white supremacy proceeded to Raleigh and gave out an interview declaring there was no negro domination in eastern North Carolina, although he was living in a county with 36 odd negro magistrates and other negro officers galore.

This was just before the election. Immediately thereafter Fountain declared himself an independent candidate for Congress and the Democrats voted for him. If he had received the support of the Populists who voted for Lloyd, he would have been easily elected.

"There seems to be," said Chairman Simmons, "no lie too bald-faced for the white allies of the negroes to attempt to palm on the people in their desperate attempt to deceive them into voting for negro rule and negro suffrage."

An examination of the eyes of the little son of Mr. F. H. Briggs, which were burned by a powder explosion July 4, was made yesterday, and one was found to be uninjured. The injury of the other eye, it is hoped, is not permanent.

This week the Flat River Baptist Association will hold its annual meeting at Roxboro. It is the first of the 44 associations to meet.

Dr. W. P. Exum, a prominent citizen and Populist of Wayne county, gubernational candidate of the Populist party in 1892, heretofore opposed to it, declares now for the amendment, and says he will make two or more speeches in the county for it. When it comes to white or negro supremacy the doctor says he is a white man.

Rev. G. F. Smith pastor of Edenton Street Methodist church here, at Louisburg Sunday, preached the sermon at the dedication of the new Methodist church. He began the church and in fact nearly completed it during his pastorate

The number of shirts made in the factory in the penitentiary last month was a little over 25,000. There were 95 convicts then employed. Of course many are unfit for any heavy work. Thirty-one were Federal prisoners, and these are now gone. The manager of the factory was not sorry to see them go, as they were troublesome.

Unless the weather grows cooler the firemen will have a scortching time at Wilmington. Last year the tournament was held in very hot weather, but nothing like the present spell.

Raleigh beat Wilmington in two straight games of baseball last week and now stands third in the association. The various clubs are hiring better and better men. Tarboro is great ball. It has college men entirely.

There was a rather funny incident at the ball game here Friday. Raleigh's catcher tossed a ball to the pitcher, but it hit Perrin Busbee, the umpire, on the nose and mouth. His nose was so cut that three stitches had to be taken in it. After the flow of blood had been stopped, the catcher stooped and picked up something from the ground saying, "Mr. Busbee, is'nt this your tooth." "It is, and I am very much obliged to catcher Mauvenˮ replied Busbee, "for I was going to have that particular tooth taken out."

Society people are rapidly leaving here. Nearly all are going to the seaside.

SIGHT, HINDSIGHT, FORESIGHT

The actions of many people in regard to the use of glasses would lead the informed to believe that their eyes are located in the back of their heads, because they never look into the future. In eye use and abuse they go year after year with never a look ahead or a thought for the ills neglect will bring. They cling to the old, foolish, erroneous idea that it is best to put off the use of glasses until forced to put them on. They wait until their vision is so deteriated that even proper glasses cannot entirely restore it to its proper acuteness, when, if taken in time, glasses would give the same easy, restful vision enjoyed in younger days.

ADLAI EWING STEVENSON.

Twice Nominated for Vice-President as a Surprise---The Wisdom of His Selection in 1892.

Washington Post.

Adlai Ewing Stevenson, who was nominated as Vice-President on the Democratic ticket, is for the second time selected for that honor, and for the second time is in a measure the surprised candidate of the convention. On June 23, 1892, he was nominated for Vice-President at the Chicago convention, with Mr. Cleveland as his leader. His nomination at that time came as a complete surprise, for it had been conceded that Governor Isaac P. Gray, of Indiana, would be the selection. But the wisdom of the nomination of A. E. Stevenson was made apparent later in the successful campaign of the Democrats. The ticket was triumphantly elected, and Mr. Stevenson, throughout his four years in the Vice-Presidency and as President of the Senate, added to his popularity among the members of both parties and before the country generally. Since his retirement in 1897 he was appointed by Pressdent McKinley as a member of the commission to visit Europe to discuss the question of international bimetalism.

Hon. A. E. Stevenson was born in Christian County, Ky., not far from the birthplace of Abraham Lincoln, October 23, 1835, and was educated in the public schools of that county. At the age of 20 he graduated from Center College, of Danville, Ky., and married Miss Lettie Green, daughter of the president of the college. Among his classmates were Senator Blackburn, of Kentucky; ex-Senator Davidson, of Florida; ex-Governor McGreary, and a number of men since well known in public life. After leaving college he moved with his family to Bloomington, Ill., where he studied law under the late Hon. David Davis.

WIPED OUT REPUBLICAN MAJORITY.

Shortly after being permitted to the bar, in 1867, he was made prosecuting attorney of McKean county. He was a master in chancery for some time in the courts of the same county. In 1864 he was a Presidential elector.

Mr. Stevenson was nominated for Congress by the Democrats of the Bloomington district in 1874. The district had been Republican by an almost invariable majority of 3,000. His opponent was Gen. McNulta, one of the leading Republican orators of the State. The canvass was notable for intense personal antagonisms between the friends of the candidates. Mr. Stevenson carried the district by a majority of 1,200. He was in Congress during the exciting scenes incident to the Hayes-Tilden contest of 1876. His party renominated him for Congress a second time. In this contest he was defeated, but in 1878, having been nominated the third time, he was elected, increasing his majority in the Bloomington district to 2,000.

At the expiration of his second term in Congress he resumed the practice of law at Bloomington. In 1884 he was a delegate to the national convention, and on July 6, 1885, he was appointed first assistant postmaster general by President Cleveland. His term of office was marked by excellent judgment and ability. He became popular with every one.

One of the last official acts of Mr. Cleveland's first term was the appointment of Hon. A. E. Stevenson to a position as justice on the Supreme Bench of the District of Columbia. The Senate, however, failed to act on the appointment, and Mr. Stevenson retired to private life in Bloomington, Ill., where he practiced law until the convention met in 1892, in Chicago.

A SURPRISE IN 1892.

Mr. Stevenson was a delegate from his State to that convention. Up to the day of his nomination, it was almost a foregone conclusion that Isaac P. Gray, of Indiana, would be the nominee, but the hard work of the delegates from Illinois, who had undertaken the campaign for Mr. Stevenson, was successful, upset all preconcerted plans, and Mr. Stevenson was nominated.

As president of the Senate, from 1893 to 1897 Mr. Stevenson increased his general popularity, and made friends on every side and in every party. He won the admiration of the Senators, and it is admitted that he was, perhaps, the most popular presiding officer of late years. On his retirement in 1897 the Senate presented Mr. Stevenson with a magnificent service of silver plate, and the presentation was accompanied by testimony from members to the ability and the popularity of the retiring officer.

Mr. Stevenson went to Brussels in 1897 as a member of the commission from this country to discuss the feasibility of securing international bimetalism, and on his return recommenced the practice of law at Bloomington, where he is regarded with respect by every one and sincere admiration by his associates and friends.

CANCER Cannot be Cut Out or Removed with Plaster

Surgical operations and flesh destroying plasters are useless, painful and dangerous, and besides, never cure Cancer.

No matter how often a cancerous sore is removed, another comes at or near the same point, and always in a worse form. Does not this prove conclusively that Cancer is a blood disease, and that it is folly to attempt to cure this deep-seated, dangerous blood trouble by cutting or burning out the sore, which, after all, is only an outward sign of the disease—a place of exit for the poison?

Cancer runs in families through many generations, and those whose ancestors have been afflicted with it are liable at any time to be stricken with the deadly malady.

Only Blood Diseases can be Transmitted from One Generation to Another

—further proof that Cancer is a disease of the blood.

To cure a blood disease like this you must cure the entire blood system—remove every trace of the poison. Nothing cures Cancer effectually and permanently but S. S. S.

S. S. S. enters the circulation, searches out and removes all taint, and stops the formation of cancerous cells. No mere tonic or ordinary blood medicine can do this. S. S. S. goes down to the very roots of the disease, and forces out the deadly poison, allowing the sore to heal naturally and permanently. S. S. S. at the same time purifies the blood and builds up the general health.

A little pimple, a harmless looking wart or mole, a lump in the breast, a cut or bruise that refuses to heal under ordinary treatment, should all be looked upon with suspicion, as this is often the beginning of a bad form of cancer.

Mrs. Sarah M. Keesling, 941 Windsor Ave., Bristol, Tenn., writes: "I am 41 years old, and for three years had suffered with a severe form of Cancer on my jaw, which the doctors in this city said was incurable, and that I could not live more than six months. I accepted their statement as true, and had given up all hope of ever being well again, when my druggist, knowing of my condition, recommended S. S. S. After taking a few bottles the sore began to heal, much to the surprise of the physicians, and in a short time made a complete cure. I have gained in flesh, my appetite is splendid, sleep is refreshing—in fact, am enjoying perfect health."

WILL BAYONET TENURE BE ENDORSED?

In his speech here Friday night, the Honorable Dan Hugh McLean made the point that negro suffrage was not an enactment of civil law, referring to the fact that the negro was given the privilege of voting under the military satrapies of 1867, and the fourteenth amendment was adopted by these votes, it thus being made impossible for a State to take from this class, by civil law, a privilege extended under military governorship. "And," said the speaker, "though the negro now has suffrage by tenure of bayonets, it will no longer be so if the people of North Carolina deliberately vote down the present proposed amendment. For if they do, it would go out to the world that the negro no longer holds the right to vote by tenure of bayonets, but by the edict of the white people of North Carolina." This is true and very important.

Our people have always claimed, and truly, that negro suffrage was put upon them by a brutal war party as a matter of revenge, conceived in fanaticism and executed in hatred. We have never before had a possibility of correcting the stupendous wrong. Now it is possible. Public sentiment in the country is fast coming to the point that will admit the wrong and be willing to see it rectified. This conclusion is being reached rapidly, thanks to the necessity for governing inferior races without extending to them an unqualified suffrage. So now, if the amendment were defeated it must go out to the world that a part, at least, of the white people have selected it as their choice. How any white man, not after an office, can do this it is impossible to understand. Elsewhere in this paper is published a list of names of white Republicans and Populists, men of high position and integrity, who say by their actions that they are not willing for the news to go forth that the negro will after next month hold his right to vote by consent of white men. And this list is only partial. There are hundreds of brave and true men, less conspicuous, but just as brave and true, who are saying the same thing, and the foul assertion that the negro shall vote by decree of the white men of North Carolina, shall never be made.

WHAT STEVENSON SHOWS.

There is much in the Kansas City platform to criticise; there would have been less but for the imperious will of Mr. Bryan in forcing a specific declaration for silver. Why he should have done this is inexplicable. The proposition that it was a stand for principle is not snfficient. Mr. Bryan has made as vehement speeches against protection as he has ever made for silver, yet this subject occupies a very unconspicuous place in the platform. Whatever the reason for it, as sure as the sun shines, it lessens the chances of success. It is a play into Republican hands, and gives them the opportunity to pitch and fight the battle on their own ground, and never think but that they will do it. They can drown all the unpleasant things that Democrats can charge them with in a posing defense of the gold standard, and in the declaration that the business and the integrity of the country is at stake.

The convention showed unmistakably that it was willing to recognize the fact that silver is not an issue this year. Even North Carolina voted against putting it specifically in the platform, and the platform committee were able to report its adoption only by a majority of two. It was emphasized by the willingness of the convention to nominate Hill, a well known gold bug who bolted the ticket in 1896, and lastly, it was shown in the nomination of Adlai E. Stevenson for the vice-presidency. This gentleman was nominated as a substitute for Hill, not for Towne, and because he represented, and was agreeable to, the conservative wing of the party. These series of incidents showed that in a sober mood the convention would have discarded 16 to 1 in a REQUIESCAT IN PACE frame of mind The nomination of Mr. Stevenson, as a second choice, after Hill's refusal, further indicates the immeasurable distance the party has travelled since 1896 on the return road to conservatism. The Chicago convention was composed exclusively of what the Reverend Thomas Dixon is pleased to describe as "one-eyed fools," that is, men fanatic on one idea, but the Kansas City convention was far from this. The one-eyed men had been taught a lesson, and though they were in considerable evidence last week, they didn't have their feet in the trough.

The meeting in the court house tonight deserves a large attendance of the ladies of the town. If there are any people under the canopy of heaven who ought to be interested in an effort to prevent the re-opening of the barrooms in a town, it is the women of that place.

Supporting the amendment should cover a multitude of sins, and in welcoming Dr. Pat Exum to the ranks we assure him that nothing shall be said about his billy goats.

A PRODIGY.

He Does Some Astonishing Feats in Arithmetic.

Arthur F. Griffith was born in Milford, a village in Kosciusko county, Ind. He is now nineteen years of age, the oldest of a family of six children. The father is a stone mason, scarcely in moderate circumstances.

As soon as he was able to talk this boy began to count. Before he was five years old he was able to keep a mental record of the number of grains of corn he fed the chickens. The total for three summers, according to his childish count, was 42,173 grains. He says he could remember for weeks afterward how many grains he fed the chickens on a given day.

When seven years old, after a severe illness he became epileptic. These attacks, at first frequent and severe, have gradually declined in frequency and severity, until now they occur only two or three times a year. Partly because of this misfortune he did not enter school until his tenth year. In the seven years' attendance at school he made a fair record in other studies.

He left school when he could no longer study his favorite subject. When about twelve years old he began to develop methods of rapid calculation. From that time on his early passion for mere counting waned.

He now extracts the square root of six place figures in four seconds. He is more rapid in multiplication than addition, subtraction or division. He extracts the cube root of nine place numbers sometimes in four seconds; multiplies four place numbers with a second place number in three seconds. He says: "It is my habit to always note the numbers of anything that I see. I always note the numbers of freight cars and passing trains. Coming east we saw a train of twenty freight cars, and I saw the largest number on a freight car that I had ever seen. It was 58,283. That was on a car of the Wabash Railroad. I noticed on another car of the Pennsylvania Railroad the number 31,423. I multiplied these numbers for Professor Lindsley while we were passing the train. My result was 1,000,003,709. I always remember the telephone numbers that I see on delivery wagons, and I could give you the numbers on wagons in every town in which I have visited."

To Prevent Abuse of Passes.

The Bib Four has adopted a new plan, so far as the company is concerned, to prevent abuse of annual passes. The holder of an annual pass must send his signature to the Auditor's office. On the train, when the pass is presented, the passenger must sign a slip, giving the number of the pass and the point of destination. This slip is sent in by the conductor, and the signature must agree with the original signature in the possession of the company. This plan has been in use for some time on the Clover Leaf and other roads, and has been found a success.—Indianapolis News.

Senator Lindsay and His Voice.

Sometimes the Senate gets as noisy as a women's sewing circle. Everybody talks at once—not trying to make speeches, understand, but each man in conversation with his neighbor. Then the buzz of voices rises to the ceiling.

It is during these periods of universal gossiping together that Senator Lindsay, of Kentucky, shines conspicuously. When he makes a set speech his voice is unto the noise of the bull of Bashan, and when he whispers he mumbles like an earthquake. He leans back in his chair, hides both his hands in his pockets, looks lovingly down upon his capacious tumtum, and then utters his comments in alleged sotto voce to the Senators around him. The trouble is that the softest tones of Lindsay are louder than the ordinary stentorian cry, and even his whisper causes the desks to tremble.—Washington Post.

The Christmas Islands.

There is one place in the world where the sun rises every day on Christmas. This place is the Cocos, or Chrstmas Islands, off the coast of Sumatra. If it were not such a hot quarter Cocos Keeling, as the group is properly called, should form an ideal residence for Santa Claus, but probably that popular old gentleman prefers to spend his 364 "off" days chatting to the mythical Scotchman who is supposed to monopolize the North Pole. Of course there is a Scotchman lving in the out-of-the-way Christmas Islands. He is one of the uncrowned kings of the world, for his rule is law to the savage Christmas Islanders. The private name of King George III, of Christmas, is Mr. George Clunies Ross, and he may claim to be of royal descent, for his father and grandfather have administered autocratic government on the islands since 1825. The islands were first discovered three centuries ago by a sea Captain named Keeling, and but little was known of them until the year 1859, when somebody discovered the Scotchman there.

The Correct Answer.

A visitor at a school during geography lesson asked a child:

"What is the axis of the earth?"

"An imaginary line passing from one pole to the other, on which the earth revolves," answered he proudly.

"Yes," said his examiner, well pleased, "and could you hang a bonnet on it?"

"Yes, sir."

"Indeed! And what kind of a bonnet?"

"An imaginary bonnet, sir."

The Robin.

Nearly every race of men have held birds as sacred, and the robin is one of those about which the most has been said, perhaps because of its pretty confident ways and bright eyes, maybe because of the legend of the "Babes in the Wood." There are instances, known to be true, of robins covering the bodies of the dead with moss.

Another pretty myth is that the color of the robin's breast is intimately connected with the crown of thorns worn by the Savior, while still another story associated with the bird is that it scorched its breast bringing down fire from heaven to rekindle the cold hearths of mankind.

Whittier has embodied a legend in his verses. He tells that the robin burned its breast carrying drops of water in its beak to relieve the anguish of poor lost souls.

COOL-HEADED.

Youngsters Who Have Done the Right Thing at the Right Time.

Keeping cool has been the means of saving many lives, and the young people are not one whit behind their elders in deeds that need presence of mind in time of danger. Recently while a club of village boys were playing ball in a field, a half mile from Minneapolis one of them fell, striking a jagged stone, severing an artery just above his knee. The blood spurted out alarmingly, but while the other boys screamed and started to run for help, one of them, Danny Howell, not quite 12 years of age, pulled off one of his suspenders, and baring the leg, knotted it above the wound, using his lead pencil to twist the bandage tight enough to stop the flow of blood, until his frightened companions succeeded in getting the doctor there to lift the artery.

"You may thank Danny for your life," said the doctor, as he finished bandaging the wound, "for if he had not acted, instead of running away, you would have bled to death long before I could have reached you. It is lucky he had not forgotten what he learned in physiology months ago." "I would know now what to do," said one of the older boys. "Always bandage between the wound and the heart."

"Not always," corrected Danny. "If the blood flows from a vein, then the bandage must be below the wound, or rather on the far side from the heart."

"How are we to know the difference?" inquired the boy, and at a nod from the surgeon, Danny explained that when the blood was coming from the arteries it spurted out in jerks, whereas venous blood flowed in a steady stream and less rapidly.

Not long ago this same boy, attracted by the excitement around a dentist's office went to the door with other curious people, just as the frightened dentist asked some one to run for a physician, as the man was dying from inhaling chloroform.

"Stand him on his head," cried Danny quickly. "I saw father do that once and the man revived at once."

With the help of an assistant, the dentist followed the boy's advice, and with a happy result, so that by the time the doctor came with his battery the patient was out of danger.

Last summer a district school house on the edge of a clearing was struck by lightning, shocking several of the scholars, one apparently fatally. Those who were unhurt, including the teacher and grown up pupils, looked on helplessly, not knowing what to do. "Let us lay them out in the rain," said a boy of 13, lifting the head of the one supposed to be dead. Thus called to the necessity of immediate action, the teacher assisted to carry the boy out, laying him on the ground, face up to the pelting rain. The other victims were served the same way and revived quickly, but though several minutes elapsed before the first showed signs of life, he too rallied, and made a speedy recovery, saved by the presence of mind of "only a boy."

Another boy yet in his teens, after helping to rescue a drowning companion, wrapped his coat up, and, placing it under the lad who had been laid on the ground face downward succeeded in forcing the water out of his mouth, and then turning him on his back, kept up his manipulations and artificial breathing until the arrival of the doctor—thus giving the boy the one chance of life—until help came.

Little five year old Mabel had been trained carefully regarding "what to do" if she should "get afire;" hence, the other day when papa and mamma heard a great pounding of little shoe toes on the floor of the room overhead they rushed upstairs to find the little girl rolling on the big woolen rug before the grate, the whole front of her cotton apron burnt out. Her clothes had caught from the grate and, remembering her instructions, she had shut her mouth with a grip and lay down and rolled the fire out, escaping with only a burnt up pinafore and a few singed curls of hair.

Butterflies.

There is something really pathetic in the way a mother butterfly builds a nest for her children. In the first place the little home where the eggs are deposited represents a great deal of sacrifice, for it is lined with several layers of down plucked from the mother's own soft body. The eggs, having been laid carefully upon this luxurious, pretty couch, are protected by an equally pretty coverlet made of the same material. These butterfly bed clothes are often arranged with an intricacy that is quite curious and perplexing. Sometimes a bed is made so that each separate delicate hair stands upright, thus giving the entire nest the appearance of a little brush of downy fur. Then again the eggs are laid spirally round a tiny branch, and as the covering follows their course the effect resembles the bushy tail of a fox, only the nest is more beautiful than the "brush" of the finest fox that ever roamed over the country. The building of this downy nest is the last earthly labor of the mother butterfly, for by the time it is completed her own delicate body is denuded of its natural covering, and there is nothing left for her to do but die—a sacrifice which she promptly and heroically makes in the interest of the coming butterfly generation.

WHITE MEN WHO ARE WHITE.

A Partial List of Republicans and Populists Who Will Vote For the Amendment.

News and Observer.

They are coming, Father Abraham, fifty thousand strong. There is no power on earth that can resist the mighty tide. The Democrats are almost solid for the amendment. There is not a day that now passes but sees many honest Republicans declare their intention to vote in August for White Supremacy. Mr. C. L. Jenkins, of Fairview, sends us a subscription, and writes as follows: "I never voted the Democratic ticket in my life, but I am one Republican that wants the floating gang of negro poll-tax dodgers and election sell-outs out of reach of voting unless they shoulder their proportionate part of taxation."

In this connection, also, the following partial list of prominent Republicans who have come out in favor of the adoption of the Constitution may not be uninteresting:

Col. A. W. Shaffer, the Republican ex-postmaster at Raleigh.

Hon. Thomas Settle, former Republican Congressman from the fifth district.

Prof. Alex McIver, of Chatham, for thirty years one of the leading men of the party and for four years State Superintendent of Public Instruction.

Maj. Joshua B. Hill, of Raleigh, former Republican U. S. Marshal.

E. V. Cox, of Pitt, former Republican member of the legislature.

Henry Makepeace, of Moore county, United States Commissioner, and formerly Republican nominee for the legislature.

Hon. Thomas M. Argo, the leading Republican member of the Raleigh bar.

A. A. Campbell, of Cherokee, former Republican member of the House.

Thomas P. Devereux, one of Raleigh's leading lawyers.

James B. Mason, the most prominent Republican in Chapel Hill.

Col. J. C. L. Harris, of Raleigh, one of the most prominent Republicans in the State.

Joseph Perry, a well known Republican of Moore county.

D. A. Bitting, well known Republican of Forsyth county.

James A. Crisp, Republican chairman of Caldwell county and nominee for the House.

Chas. H. Mebane, Republican State Superintendent of Public Instruction.

J M. Allen, editor of a Republican newspaper, the State Journal.

R. S. Eaves, of Rutherfordton, candidate for judge on the fusion ticket in 1898.

Judge H. R. Starbuck, a fusion Superior Court judge.

Here also are the names of a few prominent Populists who say the amendment is constitutional, and that they will support it:

Maj. Wm. A. Guthrie, Populist candidate for Governor in 1896.

Geo. E Boggs, Populist candidate for Congress in the Ninth District.

M. H H. Caldwell, Populist candidate for Congress against Kluttz two years ago.

A. D. K. Wallace, Populist candidate for the State Senate in this district.

Dr. H. F. Freeman, State Senator and leading Populist in Wilson county.

L. C. Caldwell, ex-Railroad Commissioner and chairman of the Populist State committee.

J. Z. Greene, editor of Our Home, the Populist organ in the Sixth district.

Dr. W. P. Craven and Dr. J. B. Alexander, Populist legislator and senator from Mecklenburg county.

W. B. Upchurch, member of legislature from Wake county, and for several years president of the Farmers' Alliance.

J. N. Price, Populist nominee of the legislature from Union county four years ago.

A. C. Green, of Wake, Weaver elector and State Senator.

J. A. Marsh, chairman Populist executive committee in Union county.

J. J. Marshall, a leading Populist of Forsyth county.

E. A. Conrad, who was chairman of the board of county commissioners of Forsyth county for several years.

These two lists include by no means all the Republicans or Populists who have declared in favor of the amendment, but only those that occur to us just now. Almost every issue of this paper for the past two months contains the declaration of some leading Republican or Populist in favor of the amendment. The fact of the business is that the best element of all parties is supporting the amendment and only the office-seeking gang, who expect to get into office by negro votes are fighting it.

Earl Manvers, who has just died, owned on his Nottinghamshire estate one of the most famous existing oaks in the country. The "Major Oak" is one of the survivors of Sherwood forest. Earl Manvers was very proud of it, and in the library at Thoresby Hall he had a spelndid chimney-piece consisting of a carved representation of this monarch of the forest with a herd of deer and statuettes of Robin Hood and Little John on the mantle. Earl Manvers, however, would insist on naming the Major Oak the Queen's Oak. Happily this change of name has not been generally adopted, or there would in handbooks of sylvan England have been a conflict with that once famous Queen's oak at Donnington Castle—one of the rare mammoths under which Chaucer "carroll'd his moral song."—Westminster Gazette.

Giving and Receiving.

"I don't give a damn!" sneered the coal man.

"It is more blessed to give than to receive!" retorted the ordinary citizen ominously.

For it was not impossible that the worm would turn.—Puck.

Aversion to That Also.

Lord Wolseley, Lord Roberts and Sir Evelyn Wood have all written considerably for the press. Sir Redvers Buller has never written anything but dispatches to the War Office, and shows his aversion to any other channels of publicity.

For burns, injuries, piles and skin diseases use DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. It is the original Counterfeits may be offered. Use only DeWitt's. Howard Gardner. july.

ANIMALS.

The Lion Tamer Likes Leopards and Babboons.

"I would much rather go into a cage with a wild lion or tiger than with a panther," said the lion tamer. "You must not trust a panther for a moment. He is always watching for his chance. He never gets so fond of any one that he can be trusted. He will fawn and cringe and rub against you, and then he will jump; and if you are not brave and quick that will be the end of you. Other animals are not like that. I like the leopard best of all. They are not lazy like the lions, and they are affectionate like a person. Monsieur Abadi had a leopard who was my best friend. Cambodia was her name. I think that is the name of a French colony where she was captured; but she was not French. She did not like Monsieur and she would not listen to French; but she would talk English with me and she loved me very much. In the tent she followed me around without any collar or chain, and she would rub up against me like a cat. Every morning she would stand on her hind feet, with her front paws on the cross bars of the cage and her nose on her paws, and she would watch the door. When I came in she would jump down and go capering around and calling to me and begging me to come into the cage. Sometimes I slept all night with her in her cage.

"In Singapore an Englishman bet me 250 rupees that I did not dare sleep with the leopard. That was an easy way of earning money. The leopard wouldn't have hurt me for anything in the world. One day I was sitting in the cage with her and a man threw a piece of meat at her. It landed on my wrist. She snatched at it with her claws out and almost tore my hand off, but she was so sorry. It made her sick, and she couldn't keep from crying every time she looked at me as long as I wore the bandage. She kept asking me to forgive her all the time.

"It was the same way with a babboon that bit me. He was a very good friend of mine, but he was savage with everybody else, and so big that everybody was afraid of him. One day when I was with him a boy ran a sharp stick into him and he thought I did it, so he grabbed me and bit me on the cheek. He was bigger than I was and I wasn't expecting any trouble, so I couldn't protect myself; but the minute he had done it he was ashamed, and began to whimper and beg for forgiveness. He treated me as if I was a baby, and petted me and hugged me, and when they took me out and bandaged up my head he could hardly bear it. You never saw any one so remorseful. I could'nt cheer him at all. He just shook his head and cried; and that scar always worried him."—N. Y. Sun.

Ten Million Bicycles In Ten Years.

A meeting of the trustees of the Cycle Trades Protective Association, an organization formed to combat the encroachments of the trust upon the rights of the independent makers of bicycles, their customers and the trade generally, is to be held at Chicago within a few days. The trustees and persons working on their behalf have been at work since the early part of November accumulating evidence for this defence of suits started by the trust for alleged infringement of the now famous bottom bracket patent. The trust people claim that it is impossible to make the frame of a bicycle without infringing the patent in question. This the outsiders declare to be nonsense. Various devices can be used in its place. Rather than depart from accepted methods, which would involve large outlays, however, they will fight the case to a finish and have prepared to expend any sum necessary up to $100,000 for that purpose.

Although the patent was issued nearly twelve years ago no attempt was made to enforce it until recently. During the past twelve years not less than 10,000,000 bicycles embracing this feature have been made. To-day the bicycle industry gives employment to many thousands of men in all parts of the country, who, were the patents sustained, would be thrown out of work, the royalty demanded by the trust being quite prohibitive. How small a chance the trust has of enforcing its demand may be judged from the fact that the bracket itself costs twenty-five cents or less, while the amount of the royalty demanded is one dollar.

During the early days of the existence of the trust a policy of intimidation was pursued. A notice was issued of intention to bring suit against all alleged infringers, which of course included retail dealers as well as makers; but with the advent of the Cycle Trades Protective Association all fear on that score disappeared and to-day, thanks to its good work, no anxiety exists.

It is impossible to discover at present what evidence has been unearthed. The attorneys for the trust, who were prior to its formation engaged to defend a similar suit on behalf of a company now owned by the trust, seem to be of opinion that they secured at that time all of the evidence which could be made useful. There is, however, a wide range of possibilities, not the least of which is that the same feature may have been found in tricycle construction. That the bracket was made in England long before it appeared in this country is well known and the independent makers possess the advantage of intimate acquaintance with men, who made them there, and who may be able to furnish important evidence as to the method of its introduction into this country.

An Empress Who Wrestles.

The Empress Dowager of China is described by an English lady, who has spent the greater part of her life in the Celestial Empire, as a much more remarkable woman than most Europeans suppose. She is an ardent painter, and her pictures are said to be admirable specimens of Chinese art. Strange as it may seem, her majesty is also said to be fond of wrestling, and frequently indulges in this rather virile form of exercise. She is well read, is fond of European music, and has some skill as a pianist. She is said both by her friends and enemies to be absolutely witnout any sense of fear, and, needless to say, her life has been attempted a number of times.

QUESTIONS ANSWERED.

Yes, August Flower still has the largest sale of any medicine in the civilized world. Your mothers and grandmothers never thought of using anything else for indigestion or biliousness. Doctors were scarce, and they seldom heard of appendicitis, nervous prostration or heart failure, etc. They used August Flower to clean out the system and stop fermentation of undigested food, regulate the action of the liver, stimulate the nervous and organic action of the system, and that is all they took when feeling dull and bad with headaches and othaches. You only need a few doses of Green's August Flower, in liquid form, to moke you satisfied there is nothing serious the matter with you. For sale by Grissom & Fordham.

WE ARE ORIGINATORS:

Not Imitators!

White Delivery Wagons have been a distinguishing mark of the Greensboro Steam Laundry for a number of years. Our customers have learned to "look out for the white wagons."

Competitors have seen fit to imitate our wagons, therefore we deem it wise to make a change.

Our wagons are now in the shop. About May 1st they will come out green, our forme color. In the mean time would respectfullly request our friends and patrons ta BEWARE of the white laundry wagons and see to it that the right driver gets the bundle. To avoid any possible confusion, in future our wagons will be lettered.

No Pipe Tobacco in Cuba.

"Strange as it may appear, smoking tobacco is practically unknown in Cuba or Porto Rico," observed an officer of the ordnance corps who has recently returned from those islands, "though, as is well known, tobacco is the principal crop, and every one uses it.

"They regard it as so much time lost to use tobacco in a pipe. Even if they wanted to use pipes they cannot get them for the simple reason that there are no pipes for sale. The natives content themselves with cigars, cheroots and cigarettes, and many of them did not know until a couple of years ago that there were some benighted people who supposed that smoking tobacco in a pipe was enjoyable and indulged in to any great extent.

"The Cuban and Porto Rican tobacco are, of course not suited to pipe smoking, for it is grown with the idea of getting as much leaf as possible and as thin as they can get. Their ignorance in regard to smoking tobacco is remarkable. Indeed, there is no word in the Spanish language for smoking tobacco."—Washington Star.

Napoleon Relic.

Among Napoleonic relics sold in London recently was a remnant of the flag made by the women of St. Helena which covered Napoleon's coffin when conveyed to the French warship Belle Poule for transportation to France. It has alwayys been a favorite occupation of women who have any military connections to embroider these emblems and the flag now floating over Ladysmith was worked by Lady Roberts.
